REPORT OF WHALING BARK JAMES ALLEN, W. H. KEL-LEY, MASTER .- Passed through Bherlog Straits Aug 1st, having taken up to tffat time 280 bbls oil since leaving the islands tast fall. Found the sea clear of ice, and arrived at Point Barrow Aug 6th. Whales scarce at first, but in September were plenty but shy, and had some unfavorable weather for whaling. Left Point Barrow Sept 28th, with 1200 bbis, and attered for Herald Island. Sighted the island Oct 7th; took two whales there. Weather cold and rugged, ice making fast on the ship. Same day lowered for whales; lost the chief mate and boat's crew by drowning. They were capsized or taken down by a four line, and being some distance to windward of the ship and other boats, and at the same time enveloped in a heavy snow squall, before any desistance could reach them, they were drowned. We found the boat bottom up an hour infer, but not a soul left to tell how the accident happened. I judged however, from the appearance of the boat, that they were taken down by a foul line. Left the Arctic Ocean Oct 10th, and arrived at Honolulu Nov 8th.

REPORT OF WHALING BASK TRITON, HEPPINGSTONE, Master -Sailed from Honolulu Dec 3d, 1873, for a cruise on the line; saw sperm whales twice, going fast to the windward. Chased them but without success. Arrived at Yokohama March 27th, and sailed again April 1st for the Arctic Ocean; had a good passage up to Cape Apoupinskoi which we sighted April 28th, then took NE gales which lasted until May 2d. Made the ice on the 4th; saw but few whales off shore, and took one on the 3 let May. Passed through Bhering Straits on the 17th June; found the season mild and the sea quite free rom ice. Commenced walrusing June 19th, taking our last July 10th. During September saw quite a good show o whales, anywhere from three to fifteen miles off the point. Struck 12 and saved 8 of them; took our last bowhead Oct Passed East Cape on the 14th, and arrived at Honolule

-Lost overboard from bark Triton, Sept 23d, 1874, Ray-mond Manuel, a Portuguese seaman. -Died at sea on board bark Triton, Oct 12th, 1874, a native named Mailo, of Hilo, Hawaii.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 14.

So FAR as we are at present advised, His Majesty the King will embark on Tuesday next, the 17th instant, on the U. S. S. Benicia, Captain Hopkins, for San Francisco, for a visit of several months duration to the United States. He will be attended by their Excellencies, John O. Dominis, Governor of Oahu, and John M. Kapena, Governor of Maus. His Majesty's visit to Amerrea at this time, while a Special Commission from the Hawaiian Government to that of Washington is endeavoring to secure the negotiation of a Treaty of Reciprocity, will, it is confidently believed, have a tendency to facilitate the labors of the Commissioners; and in any event, it must have the effect to render still more binding the ties of amity and commercial intercourse which already subsist between Hawaii nei and the Great pears in another column under the head of "By Authority," it will be observed that His Royal Highness Prince Leleiohoku has been appointed as Prince Regent during the King's absence.

H. R. H. PRINCE LELEIOHORU returned to town on Sunday morning last, after an extended tour on Hawaii, having traveled on horseback from Kona, around by the crater of Kilauea and Hilo to Kohala, where at Kawaihae he embarked on the steamer for Honoluly! The Prince was loyally received by the people of the different localities where he made brief stoppages. It had been intended that His Royal Highness should make the Act-upon this there can be no room for disthe tour of Maui also, but the approaching departure of the King rendered it necessary to post- loan shall be devoted is subject to the special propone a visit to that island until some future occasion. As the Kilauca steamed into the harbor with the Prince's flag at the main, a Royal Salute was fired from the battery on Punchbowl, as also from the U. S. S. Benicia. On landing, the Prince declined the use of the Royal carriage which was in waiting, but seating therein his sisters, the Princesses Lydia Dominis and Miriam Cleghorn, he democratically walked through the streets to the Palace, accompanied by their Excellencies Govs. Kipi and Kapena, and the Hon. Messrs. Boyd and Kuihelani, and followed by the crowd of both sexes that had assembled to welcome his return to the metropolis.

MONDAY NEXT is the day set apart by official notification, as an occasion of national public Thanksgiving to Almighty God for the many blessings enjoyed during the year that has passed, as well as prayer for the health and safety of His Majesty the King during His contemplated absence from the country. Thanksgiving Day coming as it does immediately on the heels of Sunday, may prove slightly embarrassing to clergymen who have sermons to prepare, or housewives whose minds are "on hospitable thoughts intent," and who will find scant time in which to provide the traditional Thanksgiving Dinner.

At the Catholic Cathedral, High Mass will be celebrated at 104 o'clock, A. M., and a Te Deum will be sung. It is expected that His Majesty and Staff will be present at these services, by invitation of Mons. Ballieu, the Consul of France; after which He will visit the native Church at Kawaiahao. A sermon will be preached at the Fort Street Church at 11 o'clock. by the Rev. Dr. Damon, pastor of the Bethel Church. Services will also be held at the Episcopal Church, Bishop Willis baving ordered a special form of prayer for this occasion.

To say that a theatrical performance is given under the patronage" of some person of distinction, is a common enough expression; but to state that a solemn act of worship toward the Almighty will be held under the " patronage" of one of God's creatures, strikes us as a gross impropriety, to say the least. And can it be said that the King of Kings will be "honored" by the presence in His bouse of an earthly Monarch and his Court? The paragraph in the Gazette to which we allude, announcing the proposed service at the Catholic Cathedral on Thanksgiving Day, is a singular specimen of the misapplication or perversion of words-unless it was intended as a deliberate insult to Roman Catholic

MR. WALTER M. GIBSON'S sketch of "Henry the Illustrious" of Portugal, which we reprint in full from the detached numbers of the Friend, will be found highly interesting, and we hope to see it followed by other sketches from the able and fascinating pen of the same writer. Mr. Gibson has evidently struck a new and rich vein of historical research,-or rather one that has hitherto escaped the notice of the literary men of Europe and America. His ability, talent and industry, and the unflagging zeal with which he pursues whatever he undertakes, may fairly warrant us in expecting something more extensive and permanent than the present monograph, when he comes to tell us of Luis de Camoens, the Portuguese poet. Camoens was born about three hundred and fifty years ago, spent fifteen years in India between 1553 and 1569, and published his celebrated "Lusiades," in 1572. WE HAD a few thoughts concerning the One Million Loan Act, in our last issue, and as a matter of course the Gazette goes into the opposition and proceeds to discuss the question-for which it appears to have about the qualifications of a common school-boy. This oracle says: "The same authority enacted this law that enacted every other loan bill and provided for the expenditure of the moneys obtained under them. Take the last previous loan Act passed in 1870, the population has fallen to 51,531. What a harvest we believe, as well as other loans of a similar has death reaped among this people since their first tenor." In the first place, there was no loan bill discovery! It has rendered bare and desolate our passed upon by the Legislature of 1870. The once populous hillsides, our levely valleys and broad Loan Act of 1872, is entitled "An Act to authorize a Loan," and is a loan bill pure and simple. The Act of 1868 is entitled after the same manner, but contains a section declaring that the Hawaiian is to enquire, How can the nation be resus-Bonds of the Government shall be deemed sufficitated?

The Act of 1866 is entitled "An Act to authorize the Minister of Finance to negotiate a Loan for certain purposes." This Act provides for canceling Exchequer Bills or evidences of government indebtedness; for extension of Water Works and construction of warehouses. But if reference is made to the Appropriation Bill of that year, a specific appropriation for each object will be found, viz.;

Increase of Water Works,..... $20,000 Thus it will be seen that the oracle's own witness has rained its case

The Loan Bill under discussion provides for the raising of money, and states in a general way that the money so raised may be devoted to-payment of the public debt, building warehouses, interisland steam navigation and aid of immigration. Reference to the Appropriation Bill will show that specific appropriations were made for each of these objects, viz. National debt falling due ...

Stores and Warehouses,.... Inter-island Steam Navigation,.... Encouragement of Agriculture and Immigration..... For the expenditure of "an amount not exceeding $80,000," for building a new steamer, the Minister of the Interior has the authority of the Act of July 29, 1872.

To quote again from the Gazette: "If it be unconstitutional to use the funds derived by loan, without the same being named in the general bill of Appropriations, then have our finances been conducted wholly on an unconstitutional basis for years." It will be seen from what we have already said, that it has been the custom to make specific appropriations in the general Appropriation Act, even though the Loan Bill may make a general reference to the method of expenditure of the money loaned under it. We will admit that much of the financial policy pursued during the reign of Kamehameha V. would not stand the test of the Constitution and the law :- but we sincerely hope that we have seen the last of autocratic management of public funds and public affairs; and we have no sympathy with the Gazette's dogma that two wrongs make a right.

We quote again from our contemporary What we maintain is-that the Loan Act is as distinctly an appropriation act as the 'Appropriation Bill." If the Gazette alludes to the Act Republic. By the Royal Proclamation which ap- of 1874, known as the Million Dollar Loan Bill, we concur. It is a very good specimen of an omnibus bill.

> intent and meaning of Article 77 of the Constitution, which is in these words "To avoid improper influences which may result from intermixing in one and the same Act, such things as have no proper relation to each other, every law shall embrace but one object, and that shall be

And this leads us to a few thoughts as to the expressed in its title." The Bill under consideration is entitled: "An Act to authorize a National Loan, and to define to what uses such loan shall be devoted." To aucussion; and if defining the uses to which the visions of the Appropriation Bill, it is a clumsy loan bill, the phraseology of sections 4, 6 and 7 smacking strongly of the style of Appropriation Acts. But if the Finance Board constituted by the provisions of this Bill attempt the expenditure of funds not specifically appropriated by the Appropriation Act, the Bill then becomes dualistic as to its objects and repugnant to the Constitutional provision above quoted.

We think that the soundness of our position will be apparent to even the general reader. But some will doubtless say that by the terms of the Act, the Legislature has empowered the Finance Board to make appropriations. Here then will arise the question as to whether the Legislative Assembly can delegate its powers; and this in its turn brings us to the constitution of the Supreme Court-and here we must pause.

Hooulu Lahui.

These words in Hawaiian signify, "National Growth." Emanating from His Majesty KALAKAUA, who in his addresses to the people during the Royal Progress frequently impressed upon them his own earnest hopes and desires for the recuperation of the race hooulu lahui have become the watchwords at all public gatherings of the natives On Wednesday hist a public meeting of some two or three hundred persons was held at Kawaiahao Church, called to discuss this subject, by an association of which His Excellency W. L. Mochonua is the President. It was intended that His Royal Highness Prince Leleighoku should address the meeting, but he was prevented from attending by illness. The Hon. J. Moanauli was chosen President of the meeting, supported by their Excellencies Gov. Kapena of Maui and Gov. Kipi of Hawaii. The object of the meeting was stated to be by Gov. Kapena, in a few well-chosen words, to elicit the views of the people at large, as well as to arouse their interest in whatever may tend to check the national decay, and to conserve the prosperity and welfare of the race. Thus invited, quite a number of short speeches were made by individuals among the audience, several speaking eloquently and well, for the Hawaiians are very generally born orators. Of course the views expressed on a subject upon which wise heads might well differ were very divergent, and some of the plans proposed whereby the nation might be made to grow again were peurile and absurd; but on the whole, the general opinion seemed to be that too much care cannot be bestowed upon the nurture and education of the young, and in directing renewed attention to this branch of hooulu lahui, some good may have been accomplished by the

One of the speakers (we did not learn his name) showed that he was, for a native Hawaiian, a rather advanced thinker. Said he-" The project adopted by the Legislature of making a loan of a Million of Dollars, is a very good one, so far as it goes. But I say, borrow five or six millions at once, and lay it out in making good roads and bridges where there are none; leading the streams that now run to waste over the barren plains, which only need the water to bear abundant crops of cane; improve the harbors for the shipment of produce; do these things, and we shall soon have an increase of population."

The best speech was one by the Hon. J. A. Cummings, (himself a half-caste) delivered by him on Hawaii during the late tour of the Prince on that island, and which was read to the meeting of Wednesday. We translate the substance

"The subject of the increase of the people, has been very prominently and earnestly brought forward by His Majesty the King, and more importance is given to the discussion than in the times of any of our | Work on Buildings done on Short Notice previous sovereigns. Our King is deeply impressed with the fact that the people are wasting away, and he is anxious to find and apply a remedy. During the tours which he made immediately after his accession to the Throne, His Majesty's constant endeavor in meeting with and addressing the people, was to impress upon their minds the necessity of making a general and sincere effort to stay the decrease of our race, and to again build upon the nation.

"The population of these islands was estimated by Cook at 400,000. Some years afterwards, the number was stated at 150,000. By the census of 1872, plains. The once fertile fields are deserted, and the clustering sea-side villages have disappeared. The causes of this depopulation are numerous, and can be understood; but the first question for every true " Much has been said and written, and printed in the newspapers on this subject of staying the decrease of the people; but our King desires that we should combine together and try to accomplish something to the end desired. Preaching and teaching will be useless, unless they result in works.

"I beg to suggest that there be formed an Association of native Hawaiians, to be located at Honolulu, having for its general objects the increase of the nation, with branches in each taxation district throughout the islands. Let it be the duty of these Associations to procure the means of erecting and conducting houses for the reception and care of newborn infants of indigent parents, and also for the care of other young children whose parents are unable to provide for them properly. Moreover, these Associations could perform a good work in sanitary matters in their several districts; disseminating useful knowledge as to the laws of health; keeping a list of the marriages, births and deaths; of the parents who have large families, and of the poor and desti-

"All this will involve much care and labor, but without care and labor nothing will be accomplished. The good to be expected from the adoption of such a system will not appear at once, but time and patient application will accomplish much.

" Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.' I earnestly beg of all,-the chiefs, to use the influence of their positions; the clergy, when preaching from their pulpits; physicians, with their skill; and writers for the press, with their pens; and every man and woman, each in their own family and circle of acquaintance;-to stand up alike to this great work of re-peopling Hawaii for the Hawaiians."

A Sad End.

Some of our readers will remember the two young Englishmen-Captain Neal and Major Larkyns, who visited this city about a year since, as travelers for pleasure, and after a stay of some months returned to California. There Neal sued Larkyns for money advanced-some $4,000-which was finally settled by an order on L.'s relatives in England. He subsequently was employed as a newspaper reporter on one of the San Francisco dailies, but now the news comes that on the 18th ultimo he was shot dead at Calistoga by the husband of a woman he is alleged to have seduced. Larkyns was employed at Calistoga to make maps of some mines. Muybridge, the man who shot him, was a photographer in San Francisco, and coming into possession of letters which satisfied him of the criminal intimacy between Larkyns and his wife, he followed him to Calistoga. Arriving at the house where he was stopping, at 11 o'clock at night, Muybridge called him out on the veranda, and saying, "This is the reply to the letter you sent to my wife," immediately discharged his revolver with deadly aim. Larkyns running a few steps and falling a corpse. Muybridge gave himself up and was placed in prison, awaiting the action of the Grand Jury. So early ends a mispent life. Larkyns was about 35 years of age. Says the Bulletin :

"Major Harry Larkyns, the victim, was well known in the city for a period of nearly two years, rather in the character of an adventurer. From the little that is known of his history, he came from a respectable and wealthy family in England, but became estranged from his relatives in consequence of his reckless and spendthrift propensities, and after wasting his patrimony in riotous life, was thrown upon his wits for a livelihood. His life history would, no doubt, afford a romantic narrative. He held a comnission in the British army during a portion of his life, and served six years in India. Subsequently he traveled extensively in Europe, and was familiarly equainted with the attractions and points of interest n many of the principal cities on the continent. On the breaking out of the Franco-German war he entered the French service, and held a position on the staff of General Bourbaki, with the rank of Major. This fact was corroborated by a French gentleman who happened to be in San Francisco at a time that Larkyns was in custody of the authorities for certain inancial irregularities. The gentleman commended Larkyns as a gallant officer, and in admiration of his conduct in the service of France he desired to assist him in his emergency, but the favor was not required."

CHICAGO, Oct. 5 .- A New York special says: Ex-Judge D. Morris, Tilton's counsel, says in corroborating Tilton's asserted desire for an early trial of his case, that he (Morris) is confident that twelve men cannot be found in King's county to reject the evidence which will be offered in behalf of his client. He says that he makes this statement with a full knowledge that the court will leave out as improper testimony the evidence of Mrs. Tilton, Mrs. Bradshaw, and Mrs. Morse. No obstacle will be placed in the way of an early trial by Tilton."
